^ Presentation

What is the purpose of this International HRM Master? It aims to train human project leaders to work in an English and multicultural context – in France or/and abroad – for small and medium sized import / export companies or major international groups.

Tailor-made for future Executives in international businesses, the program was created in collaboration with IHRM professionals.

It is aimed at students wishing to pursue an international management career in a global context. It develops a wide range of up-to-date skills in social innovation and in HRM. The program will concentrate on the key role of HRM project management in an international context.

In order to better meet international students' expectations, IGR IAE Rennes now offers two-year English-taught programs. This new timeframe will give students more time to learn about France and French people, and to work in the context of French or France-based companies during the two internship periods included in the program. These full-time programs are taught 100% in English in our premises located next to Rennes' city center.
